Dear Colleague,

We warmly thank you for your letter of condolence following the horrible terrorist attacks which shattered our country.

Wherever they occur, such acts of violence and blind fanaticism against innocent citizens are always revolting. When they occur in one's daily environment, they are even more terrifying.

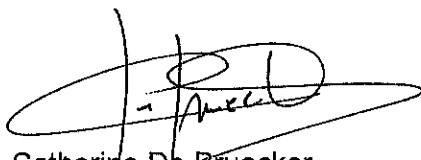

We are convinced that it is by staying united that our society will find the strength to defeat such barbarism.

Together, we have to continue to tirelessly defend the values underlying our democratic societies: liberty, justice and equality. We have to work for the right of every human being to live in dignity.

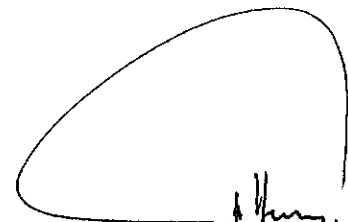

The many expressions of support and solidarity of our colleagues strengthen our determination and our confidence in the ability of our institutions to take up the challenge.

Kind regards,

The Federal Ombudsmen

Catherine De Bruecker
